This is a sample document that uses entry counting. The entry counting has been enabled on the abbreviation category. This means that abbreviations will only be added to the glossary if they have been used more than \( n \) times, where in this document \( n \) has been set to 2. Entries in other categories behave as normal.

- Used once: hypertext markup language.
- Used twice: extensible markup language and extensible markup language.
- Used three times: cascading style sheet (CSS) and CSS and CSS.
- Used once but this entry is in the “general” category which doesn’t have the “entrycount” attribute set: sample.
